Hi Vince and Kacee,

We should try to provide invitees for next weeks meeting with an agenda of some sort by COB tomorrow. Below is a draft I put together based on our previous conversations, along with supporting documents to upload to the meeting invitation. Please let me know what you think as soon as possible.

This meeting is being scheduled as part of our ongoing effort to maintain open lines of communication with all stakeholders. Topics for discussion during this meeting include the revised schedules for several chemicals of interest and the NAS review of the IRIS assessment development process. Additionally, please come prepared to discuss the scope of the draft soluble nickel salts assessment, which is currently on the IRIS agenda. Specifically, we would like your input on whether we should expand the scope of the assessment to include nickel and other nickel compounds. We are also interested in understanding the regulatory needs you would have for an expanded assessment.

I hope you will be able to join us for this conversation. Please feel free to delegate the meeting to someone else and/or to include other key members of your staff.

Thank you for your continued interest in the Agency's Integrated Risk Information System (IRIS) Program. If you have any questions regarding this meeting, please contact Elizabeth Corona at corona.elizabeth@epa.gov.
